

Lovely stuff

"CHESS, like love, like music, has the power to make men happy," said the late Dr Tarrasch. Looking at the following two spectacular games, it is easy to understand why. This first win, gleaned from the 1982 Caorle Open in Italy, must have given its creator added delight; it also won the brilliancy prize.

The beginning of a faulty plan, which weakens the Black kingside.

19. Kh2	Nac5

This used to be thought best play for White in this line of the Dragon, aptly named the "Yugoslav Attack". But Gufeld has done his homework.

14. ... Rb8!
This novelty was discovered last year in a game between two Russians. The idea is that here Black's rook is less valuable than White's dark-squared bishop. For example, 15.Bxf8 Qxf8 16.Qa5 f5 17.Nc5 e4 18.c3 Bxc3! 19.bxc3 Qh6 ch 20.Rd2 Rb1 ch 21.Kxb1 Qxd2 with a strong attack. Possibly best are 15.h4 or 15.c4.

15. g4f1	f5
16. gx15	gx15
17. Ng5
17. ...	e4!
18. c3	Rxb2!!

GUFELD

19. Kxb2	Qa5!

22. Qxc3	Bxd4
23. Rxd4	Rb8 ch
24. Kc2	Qxa2 ch
25. Kd3	c5!
26. Rd6	f4!

A fantastic coup.
Not 19... Bxc3 ch 20.Qxc3 Nxc3 21.Rxd8.

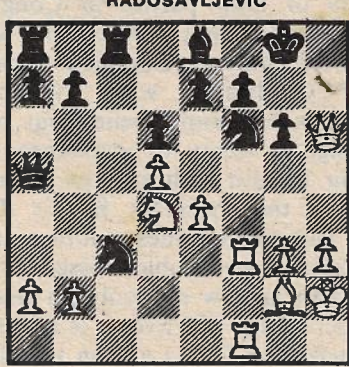

Protecting the e-pawn. White's king is trapped in the centre, fatally exposed — 27.Rxe6 Rd8 ch and 27.Nxe6 Qb1 ch both win for Black.

27. Rg1	Qb1 ch
28. Ke2	Rb2 ch
29. Qxb2	Bc4 ch
30. Resigns

Magic!

30. dxe6	Rc7
31. exf7 ch	Rxf7
32. Rxg6 ch	Resigns

A rook and a knight ahead, Black is remarkably helpless against the threat of mate on f8.

Yugoslav Grandmaster Dragoljub Velimirovic is renowned for his fantastic tactical vision, but here, for once, he meets his match. The game was played at Vinkovci, Yugoslavia, earlier this year.
