NEW ZEALAND CHESS

Dear Readers.

As you will see by the above title, we are now known by a new name.

This is the first step in setting up a new magazine for N.Z. Chess Players. However, we are not going to try and do too much too fast. Firstly, we wish to build up the circulation so that finally each affiliated chess player in N.Z. gets a copy. A start has been made in this direction by the Auckland Chess Centre taking copies for each of their members. It is hoped that other clubs will follow this example. It may be necessary to make a nominal charge for the magazine to cover costs of printing and materials but this won't be high and details concerning this will appear later - the more interest shown in this magazine the cheaper it will be. Advertising will be accepted by clubs, individuals and businesses at a small charge. The next issue will be a special issue devoted entirely to the Olympiade, with full results, annotated games and comments, etc.

The 'N.Z. Chess' magazine will tend to move away from being the official voice of the N.Z.C.A., and will deal only with tournaments, games, and articles pertaining to chess. I would make a further appeal to all chess clubs to send in results of tournaments, matches, etc., and any interesting games and news. Finally, the success or failure of this venture will depend to a large extent on the support of N.Z. chess players.

ROTHMAN'S NORTH ISLAND TOURNEY 1974

- The N.I. this year was held in Wanganui during the 2nd week of the May School Holidays. The venue was the Wanganui Collegiate School, and the general consensus of opinion was that this was the best N.I. that anyone could remember, as far as facilities and conditions were concerned. The playing room was the school library and one of the houses of residence was used to billet the players, at a very reasonable cost. The field for the tourney was not particularly strong due to the absence of the Olympiad players and the poor attendance by Wellington's higher graded players. However, due to the evenness in strength of the field, the chess produced was of a high standard and players had to fight hard for the full point.
- ROUND 1. As has come to be expected in the 1st round of the N.I., several upsets occurred. D. Walker was beaten by A. Skuja and T. Free was held to a draw by P. Clemance of New Plymouth. All other results were more or less expected.
- ROUND 2. This round saw the demise of Walker's chances, as he lost again, this time to J. Cater, a rapidly improving player from Auckland. D. Goodhall dropped a valuable $\frac{1}{2}$ point to the diminutive M. Chandler of Wellington, who although small in stature, can walk tall regarding his chess. Wansink, Jackson, Goffin, and Marsick were the only ones to have 2 wins at the end of this round.
- ROUND 3. Wansink v. Marsick. Marsick decided to sacrifice a pawn and after struggling along for some time, lost. Goffin v. Jackson. Goffin built up a powerful K side attack which brought him a knight for 2 pawns. Jackson in time trouble lost a pawn and Goffin won soon after the adjournment. While this was happening Goodhall, Flude, Belton, and Chandler all won, keeping in touch with the leaders.
- ROUND 4. Goffin Wansink. A rather feeble draw. Goffin played as white a variation of the Pirc. that Perry had played against Goffin in round 2. Goffin thought white's position better so tried it as white only to find it was not better. This draw allowed Goodhall and Flude to catch the leaders. Goodhall beating Belton and Flude having a fortutious win over Chandler. Jackson, Marsick, Free, and Perry won, giving them three points each and a good battle for the lead was developing.

ROUND 5. Wansink beat Flude with a well directed King side assault. Goodhall and Goffin drew; the latter having slightly the better of it. Jackson drew with Perry. Marsick beat Free in a lively encounter. Marsick defending a Ruy Lopez, got into extreme time trouble by trying to find ways of not losing. He suddenly decided to try and find ways of winning and playing quickly and accurately had Free on the back foot until Free's position cracked. Chandler and Perry won and drew respectively, both keeping in touch with the leaders.

ROUND 6. Wansink won against Goodhall in a difficult rock and pawn ending which looked drawish at different stages throughout. Goffin beat Marsick who was at a disadvantage, having been comprehensively beaten by Goffin at golf prior to the game. Marsick determined to restore his battered ego, challenged Goffin to a game of ping pong (the school had a table in the games room) which he won, thus going to bed reasonably happy with the day. At this stage it also became apparent that Walker and Baeyertz had been creeping up through the field unnoticed, both now having 4 points and both having cunningly lost their first 2 games!

ROUND 7. Wansink 1 Jackson O. Goffin 1 Walker O. Goodhall 1 Perry O. Flude 1 Baeyertz O. Free 1 Trundle O. Chandler 1 Marsick O. These stark results show the fighting that went on in this round, all players trying for the win. Jackson at no stage looked like saving the game. Goffin induced Walker to castle queen side and promptly ripped open his King's position. Goodhall had to struggle for his win. Chandler was a bit lucky against Marsick, who again got short of time. Flude also lucky against Baeyertz.

ROUND 8. So the final round starts with Wansink $6\frac{1}{2}$ playing Free 5. Goffin 6 playing Flude 5. Goodhall 5 Cater $4\frac{1}{2}$. Chandler 5 playing Walker 4. Wansink soon built up a considerable king side pressure while Goffin, playing rather passively against a bombastic attacking Flude, found himself in difficulties. However, simplification eased Goffin's position, and after looking at Wansink's game, offered Flude a draw which was accepted. Wansink offered Free a draw and 1st and 2nd places were finalized. Goodhall, after being in a winposition, frittered his advantage away and should have lost but Cater could not play the ending well and Goodhall finally won. Chandler found himself in some trouble against a now in form Walker and did not seal the best move at adjournment, Walker winning the next morning. So final results were Wansink 1st 7-1. Goffin 2nd $6\frac{1}{2}-1\frac{1}{2}$. Goodhall 3rd 6-2. Flude and Free 4th= $\frac{1}{2}-2\frac{1}{2}$.

In conclusion, mention should be made of the excellent prizes offered, $115 1st. $75 2nd. $40 3rd. $10 4th, and 2 grade prizes of $20 each.

Special mention should also be given to the erstwhile D.O.P. Jack Arbuthnot, who managed to keep boisterous players fairly quiet and see that no skullduggery was entered into while games were in progress.

WELLINGTON CHESS NEWS

Queen's Birthday Tournament

This year's event attracted 53 entries in 3 grades. Results are shown on the attached Xerox sheets and are forwarded for grading purposes. Results were something of a triumph for Wainuiomata's Pencarrow club, with both A and B grades being won outright by their young players Murray Chandler, aged 14, and Neil Cook 16. Chandler played brilliantly throughout and showed tremendous stamina on the last day by virtually playing non stop from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. (two adjourned games plus 5th round game). His game against P. Kelly, the several times Wellington champion, was the highlight and is given below for inclusion in the next bulletin. Kelly's knight sacrifice on move 26 opened up the game and showed Chandler's superb handling of a complex position. The local press were not slow to recognize his win in this tournament and gave him a good write up.

Provincial Schoolboys' Tourney

Played in the first week of the May holidays, this event attracted 33 entries from as far afield as New Plymouth and Napier. An unprecedented 4 way tie resulted for first place between. D Beach (Onslow College and Civic club); S. Yee (Wellington College and Wellington club); and M. Chandler and I. McDonald (both Wainuiomata College and Pencarrow club). The prize money was shared but a play off will have to be arranged to decide the two participants in the National Schoolboys. Each of the winners scored 6 points, Beach and Chandler being unbeaton with 4 wins and 4 draws each.

Interclub Teams Tourney

A record 34 teams have entered this year's competition (4 more than last year), and it will be played in 3 grades as usual. It is very pleasing to see teams entered by new clubs like Griffins, A.M.P. Fire Brigade, etc. tourney is undoubtedly the highlight of the year's competitions in Wellington and shows what can be done to provide competition between clubs with suitable organization.

Shaw of Johnsonville, who scored 4 points and won $25. The B grade was won by K. Kinchant of Wellington, also scoring 5 points and collecting $35, while the second prize of $20 was shared by S. The tournament was held in 3 grades - 18 players in A grade, 22 in B grade, and 42 in C grade.

UPPER HUTT NEWS

This is only the second time that the Upper Hutt Chess Club has run such a tournament and its popularity has already been extended beyond Wellington district. This year's tournament saw players from Auckland and Christchurch participating.

The club will be running another 40-40 Tournament next year and plans are already set for a bigger and better tournament, with bigger and better prizes.

Chess players are reminded that the Upper Hutt Chess Club will be holding New Zealand Chess Championships in 1975/6 and for the past 2 years the club has been working hard to raise funds to have good prize money to attract players from all over New Zealand and beyond!

AUCKLAND EASTER OPEN 1974

As has come to be expected with this Tourney, a very strong field entered. Apart from most of the leading Auckland players, strong entries were forthcoming from Wellington, Hamilton, and other smaller North Island centres. This type of tourney needs a very intense and concentrated type of play. This is brought about by the limited number of rounds and the strong competition at the upper end of the field. A study of the score indicates a low proportion of draws, particularly amongst the higher graded players. It logically follows that a sharp attacking style suits this type of tourney. This style of play also tends towards shorter games, which reduces stress and tiredness. A very important factor in short tourneys with no provision for adjourned games.

- Round 1. The news of the round was the draw between P. Stuart and the young Auckland player, P. Mataga. The other unexpected result was W. Power loosing to the English player T. Stonehouse. Other results were more or less as expected.
- Round 2. This round produced no surprises, with all higher graded players winning.
- Round 3. The players still on maximum points after round 2 were Sarapu, Kelly, Green, Hensman, Metge, Jensen, Goffin, Flude, Marsick. Sarapu beat Marsick, who got into his usual time trouble. Kelly lost to Flude, who looked in good form. Green disposed of Goffin after the latter had made an opening error in the K.I. defence. Hensman lost to Jensen, who at this stage was playing good chess. Metge caused the surprise of the round, beating Stuart, who at this stage of the tourney was not looking too good.
- Round 4. After this round only Sarapu, Metge, Jensen had 4 points. Sarapu had little trouble defeating Flude. Metge beat Stonehouse and Jensen, continuing his good form, beat Green. Kelly, Hensman, Power, Goffin, Marsick, and Storey all won, keeping in touch with the leaders.
- Round 5. The pressure started to come on in this round. Sarapu starts to clear out from the rest of the field, beating Jensen in a good hard fought game. Kelly defeats Metge in a complicated struggle. Green wins against Marsick. Hensman starts to get it all together and beats Storey.

Round 6. Sensation! Sarapu, who up to this stage had been steaming along like a 16" gum battleship, was hit amidships by a torpedo from Kelly and sank in 18 moves! Stuart came back into the action, beating Belton. Green came up equal with the leaders, beating Hensman. Metge did likewise, defeating Jensen. Power emerged from the field, beating Gibbons. 1 point behind the leaders were Goffin, who beat Flude, Marsick - who beat Robinson, Weir - who beat Knightbridge, Cater - who won against Storey. Stonehouse came back into the fray, winning against Henderson.

Round 7. At the start of this round the situation was as follows: Sarapu, Kelly, Green, and Metge 5 points. Stuart, Power, and Stonehouse 4½ points. Hensman, Jensen, Goffin, Marsick, Weir, and Cater all on 4 points. Sarapu v. Metge. Sarapu had little difficulty winning and in Kelly v. Green, Green won after having a lost position. Stuart could only draw with Stonehouse while Power moved into 3rd place by beating Hensman. Goffin beat Cater, moving up to 5 points to become 4th= with Stuart, Kelly, Metge, and Stonehouse.

NORTH SHORE NEWS

NZCA President Charles Belton, scored a great success in the first event of the year - a 38 player Swiss tournament - gaining $6\frac{1}{2}$ points out of 8. A large number of upsets saw the top rated players regularly dropping points. P. Stuart drew with Belton and lost to N. Metge, M. Whaley lost to Belton and W. Wilson, while W. Leonhardt drew with three young players - M. Livingston, D. Johnstone, and Wilson.

Top scorers were: C. Belton $6\frac{1}{2}$; P. Stuart, W. Leonhardt, N. Metge & Roundill, each 6; M. Livingston & M. Whaley $5\frac{1}{2}$; D. Johnstone, T. Gilbert, G. Waite, W. Knightbridge & P. Weir, each 5.

JENKINS TROPHY MATCH

Auckland v. North Shore

This match was played over 15 boards on Saturday, 13th July. The result was very close, with both North Shore and Auckland not at full strength. The final score was 8-7 to Auckland. The only poor aspect of the match was the decision to adjudicate games after the first time control (35 moves in 14 hours). This resulted in several games being adjudicated with still a lot of play left in the positions. Auckland had white at even numbered boards.
