INSIDE STORY

The council heard that Ben Martin had achieved the FM title. FIDE reported that he had had a rating of 2310 for 24 games.

Reporting on the conclusion of the Asian Under-16 tournament, the president asked that thanks be sent to Ortvin Sarapu, arbiter, Christchurch City Council sponsor and Canterbury Chess Club for assistance.

I An offer of the use of a laptop computer if the association bought some ChessBase disks was turned down. The meeting felt that the system had limited use in the situation obtaining at an Olympiad.

Ted Frost's appointment to council was confirmed and New Plymouth's offer to host the 1991 North Island inspired the council to write other clubs on the matter. We hasten to add, there was no resistance to New Plymouth's offer; it was just an over-zealous reaction to the lack of other offers!

Once again someone said there was little understanding in the chess world about what was being done for them (by the association, presumably). Since we have been endeavouring to keep you up to date with council's doings, could you please tell us what information you are lacking.

It would appear that council will probably go ahead with incorporation on the basis of club membership. As the only dissenting voice (we are in favour of individual membership) we just hope you will think about it.

The acting treasurer has reported that half the country's clubs had not then paid affiliation fees! He also mentioned a decline in funds and drew support from one councillor who suggested that the council was being lax in its control of spending and who mentioned the report from a sub-committee. It recommended a reduction in sponsorship of overseas travel except on "hardship" then the council approved many thousands for Olympiad travel, a good proportion of it from another designated account.

If we hold a World Cup event in 1991 it is likely to be in July, Michael Fowler Centre etc.

Council will propose increasing affiliation fees to $10 adult, $5 schoolpupil, rating levy $2. Offshore ratings will not be included in national list.

Council's nominations via Civic club did not include a secretary or treasurer when we held the council meeting. Anybody fancy a job?

THE LONG AND THE SHORT

The match being played just now for the World Chess Championship gives each player 150 minutes for 40 moves, a time control that has been in vogue for some years.

However, many tournaments are now adopting 120 minutes for 40 moves and some even include six-hour sessions as happened at the Olympiad in Thessaloniki.

It is possible that such controls are brought about by organisers, intent on fitting in with meal times, media deadlines and so on but it is equally possible that they are sought to improve the image and competitiveness of chess.

As far as we can ascertain, the resistance to shorter time controls comes from the stronger, successful members of the chess fraternity. The main claim we have heard is that slower time controls enable higher quality, perfection. The inclusion of that last word of the previous sentence tells us a lot about their type of quality.

A more likely reason for their resistance is that they could, at a faster time control, make a mistake and actually lose! When one considers that prize money or reputation could be at risk, such fear or resistance may be justified. Only may be, because if they cannot lose there is no competition, no prizes and probably no opponent!

When some people made attempts to introduce, or have introduced, 30/30 events, one reaction was to "ask the experts", in this case, the top players. As a result New Zealand now has some 60/60, 45+15 and other oddities. The one bright spot is the very successful Upper Hutt 40/40 which started long before 30/30 was thought about.

However, 30/30 is the FIDE-recognised time control for 'rapid', 'allegro' or 'action' chess events. With five or six-round tournaments lasting just one day. America and Britain have embraced the concept and even have a 30/30 international rating list. When will we take it up?

WORLD CHESS CHAMPIONSHIP NEW YORK 1990

We have more than one source of the games from the world championship but so far the university bulletin board has given us most in terms of annotation.

We knew it would come and it has. One of the principal annotators is Deep Thought, a computer! At last the organisers have found the real use of the machines; as a person support, not replacement.

19 a4	Bh6
20 Ra1	Nc4

Deep Thought (DT in future) said that was a mistake; if White played correctly!

21 axb5 axb5

22 Rxa8?

The recommendation was 22 b3 winning a pawn. If 22...Nd6 23 Rxe8+ Rxe8 (23...Nxe8 24 Rxa8 Bxa8 25 Bxb5) 24 Nxb5 Nxb5 25 Qxd5 Bxd5 26 Bxb5 Rb8 27 Bc4 or 22...Rxe1 23 Rxa8+ Bxa8 24 Qxe1 and the fork on e8 wins the pawn.

GAME TWO

G Kasparov v A Karpov

Ruy Lopez

1 e4	e5
2 Nf3	Nc6
3 Bb5	a6
4 Ba4	Nf6
5 0-0	Be7
6 Re1	b5
7 Bb3	d6
8 c3	0-0
9 h3	Bb7
10 d4	Re8
11 a4	Bf8
12 Bc2	h6
13 Nbd2	exd4
14 cxd4	Nb4
15 Bb1	bxa4
16 Rxa4	a5
17 Ra3	Ra6
18 Nh2	g6

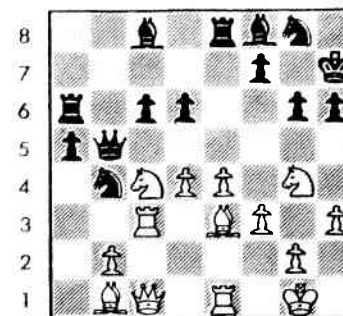

Apparently this has all been played before! Kasparov's next was considered a TN, theoretical novelty, in case you didn't know.

19 f3	Qd7
20 Nc4	Qb5
21 Rc3	Bc8
22 Be3	Kh7

Other suggestions were 22...Qb7 or 22...h5 but Shamkovich said that then 23 d5 looked strong, gaining space and cramping Black.

23 Qc1	c6
24 Ng4	Ng8

Most Black pieces seem to be on the wrong side of the board and White could have an attack.

25 Bxh6! Bxh6

If 25...Nxb6 26 Nf6+

26 Nxb6 Nxb6

27 Nxd6 Qb6

Many thought an intermediate 28 Rc5 was now best. All the time DT thinks Kasparov is a third of a pawn ahead, or half a pawn, or quarter of a pawn. It suggested moves which changed with time; more time, more changes.

28 Nxe8	Qxd4+
29 Kh1	Qd8
30 Rd1	Qxe8
31 Qg5

The grandmasters thought Kasparov was winning but DT gave a long line leading to a draw!

31 ... Ra7

Because of the slow time control, 40 in two and a half, both players still have more than 30 minutes left.

32 Rd8	Qe6
33 f4!

"Crushing" said Christiansen who thought 33...f6 was forced.

33 ...	Ba6
34 f5	Qe7

35 Qd2 Qe5
The experts, and DT, think Karpov is lost. He has two minutes left.

36 Qf2 Qe7
The annotators thought 36...Re7.

37 Qd4 Ng8
38 e5 Nd5
39 fxg6+ fxc6

Most expected 40 Bxg6+ but when the world champion and DT choose the text...

41 Qxa7+ Nde7
42 Rxa6 Qd1+
43 Qg1 Qd2

 2 c4 g6
 3 Nc3 Bg7
 4 e4 d6
 5 Nf3 0-0
 6 Be2 e5
 7 Be3 Na6

A little known move, probably intended to confuse Karpov. The third game showed the main alternative.

 9 dxе5 dxе5
 10 Qxd8 Rxd8
 11 Rfdf1 Re8

Not so good, according to some grandmasters. They recommended 13...Bc5 with equality.

A strange move, someone said. 16...a5 was preferred.

GAME SEVEN

Notes: Elliott Winslow IM

A Karpov v G Kasparov

King's Indian Defence

1 d4 Nf6
 2 c4 g6
 3 Nc3 Bg7
 4 e4 d6
 5 Nf3 0-0
 6 Be2 e5
 7 Be3 Na6
 8 0-0 Ng4
 9 Bg5 f6

TN. 9...Qe8 has been played frequently - six games in the New In Chess database.

10 Bc1 Kh8
 11 h3 Nh6
 12 dxе5 fxе5

Ex-world champion Mikhail Tal, who joined the sellout crowd tonight, felt that Black was better after 12...dxе5

13 Be3 Nf7
 14 Qd2 Nc5

Dzindzichashvili gave White the advantage but Rohde said ...Ne6 and ...c5 led to an equal game.

15 Ng5

15 b4 Ne6!? Tal thought that 15 Bxc5 dxc5 16 Qe3 was best.

15 ... Nxg5
 16 Bxg5 Bf6
 17 Be3 Ne6
 18 Bg4

Byrne thought that Black should play Ne6-d4, else White will exchange at e6 and his knight would be stronger than the bishop but Rohde gave 18...Nd4 19 Bxc8 Rxc8 or Qxc8, then 20 Bxd4 exd4 21 Nb5.

18 ... h5
 19 Bxe6 Bxe6
 20 Nd5 Bh4

Shamkovich suggested 21 Bxa7 with the idea of 21...Rxa7 22 Qh6+ Kg8 23 Qxg6+ but Rohde said 21...g5! or 21...Bxd5 equalled.

21 Rac1

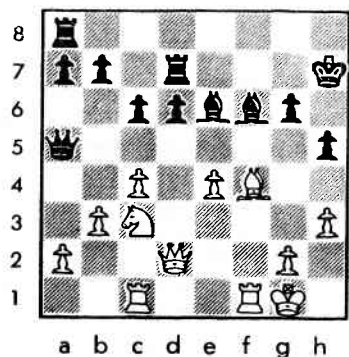

21 f4! - Chow. If 21...exf4 22 Nxf4 Bf7 23 Bd4+ Kh7 24 Nd5 or 21...c6 22 fxе5 dxе5 23 Bc5 or 22...cxd5 23 cxd5 with an attack.

21 ... Kh7

Now Tal pointed out 22 f4 exf4 with the idea Qd8-b6.

22 Rc3 Rf7
 23 b3 c6
 24 Nb4 Rd7
 25 Rcc1 Bf6
 26 f4 exf4
 27 Bxf4 Qa5

Many felt this to be a blunder.

28 Nd5 Qc5+
29 Kh1

29 Be3 was the subject of considerable debate: 29...Bg5 30 Nf6+ Kh6 31 Bxc5 Bxd2 32 Rcd1 Rdd8 and Black is holding - Loefler.

29 ... Bxd5
30 cxd5 Qd4

Giving up a pawn but Seirawan considers this a mistake. Originally, Lautier and Tisdall felt that 30...Qb5 may not be too bad but Rohde found 31 a4 Qxb3 32 dxc6 bxc6 33 a5.

31 dxc6 bxc6
32 Rxc6 Re8
33 Rc4 Qxd2
34 Bxd2 Be5
35 Be3 Bg3
36 Rf3 h4
37 Bf2 Bxf2

37...Rde7 38 Bxg3 hxg3 39 Rxg3 Rxe4 40 Rxe4 Rxe4 41 Rg5 +- Dzindzi (That's a better spelling! ed).

38 Rxf2 Rde7
39 Rf4 g5

40 Rf6 Rxe4
41 Rxe4 Rxe4
42 Rxd6 Re7
43 Ra6 Kg7

Black resigned before resuming. The extra pawn and more active rook make the win child's play.

GAME EIGHT

G Kasparov v A Karpov

Ruy Lopez

1 e4 e5
2 Nf3 Nc6
3 Bb5 a6
4 Ba4 Nf6
5 0-0 Be7
6 Re1 b5
7 Bb3 d6
8 c3 0-0
9 h3 Nd7
10 d4 Bf6
11 a4 Bb7
12 Be3 Na5

Kasparov varied from 12 axb5 in game 6 and Karpov took 11 minutes thought.

13 Bc2 Nc4
14 Bc1 d5

A TN from Karpov! One previous game reference was 14...Ncb6 15 b3 bxa4 a5. Rohde, at the match, considered 14...d5; now 15 axb5 axb5 = (15...dxe4 16 Nxe5 is good) or 15 exd5 Bxd5 16 b3 Bxf3 17 Qxf3 Nd6 looks equal. Kasparov thought for over 40 minutes before replying.

15 dxe5 Ndx5
16 Nxe5 Nxe5

Shamkovich now expected 17 f4 Nc4 18 e5 Bh4 unclear.

17 axb5 axb5

And Karpov gave this one 37 minutes thought.

18 Rxa8 Qxa8
19 f4 Ng6
20 e5 Bh4
21 Rf1 Be7
22 Nd2 Bc5+

That one took 30 minutes.

23 Kh2 d4

23...Be3 24 Nf3 (24 Nb3 doesn't block the long diagonal) 24...Bxc1 is a positional edge for White. In this line, if 24...Bxf4+ 25 Bxf4 Nxf4 26 Bxh7+ or 26 Ng5 give White a strong attack.

24 Qe2 dxc3
25 bxc3 Rd8

Seirawan: 25 Ne4 cxb2 26 Bxb2 with attack but Dzindzi likes 25...Bxe4 26 Bxe4 Qa2 with play.

26 Ne4 Ba3
27 Bxa3 Bxe4
28 Qxe4 Qxa3
29 f5 Ne7

A surprise but 29...Nf8 30 e6 fxe6 31 fxe6 Qd6+ 32 Kh1 Qxe6 33 Rxf8+

30 Qh4 f6
31 Qg3 Kf8
32 Kh1 Qc5
33 exf6 gxf6
34 Bb3 Nd5
35 Qh4 Kg7
36 Rd1 c6
37 Rd4 Qxc3
38 Rg4+ Kh8
39 Bxd5

Thought to be a time trouble error but Kasparov had five minutes left and Karpov was on his last one!

39 ... Qa1+
40 Kh2 Qe5+
41 Rg3 cxd5

A blunder would be 41...Rxd5 42 Qg4. Splitting the pawns makes Black's task that much harder.

42 Qg4 Qc7
43 Qd4 Qd6
44 Kh1

A subtle and pre-emptive decision. The main line was thought to be 44 Qg4 Qd7 preventing 45 Qd4 again.

44 ... Re8
45 Qg4 Qd7
46 Rd3 Re1+
47 Kh2 Re4
48 Qg3

48 Qd1 loses to 48...Qd6+ 49 Kg1 Qe5 threatening 50...Re1+.

48 ... Re5
49 Ra3 Re8
50 Qf4 Qb7

So that if 51 Qd6 Qb8 exchanges into a won endgame.

51 Kh1 Qb8
52 Qh4 Qb6
53 Qb4 d4

Again in time trouble, Karpov takes a step but the pressroom consensus is that 53...Qf2 was very strong, intending ...Re1+, ...Rg8 or ...Qxf5.

54 Rg3 Qc7
55 Rd3 Qc1+
56 Kh2 Qf4+
57 Kg1 Qc1+
58 Kh2 Qf4+
59 Kg1 Rc8

60 Rd1 Rd8
 Expected but IM Semyon Palatnik found 59...Kg7 with the idea 60 Rxd4 Re1+ with a winning queen ending.

LOCAL NEWS

Peter Stuart has notified us of the death of Dr A J (Jim) Henderson on 8th June 1990. He was a long-time member of the Auckland Chess Club and Centre and was also a founder member of the North Shore club in 1956. One of the characters of the Auckland chess scene, Jim was quite a strong player but we have none of his games - for many years he indulged in a ritual screwing up of his scoresheet at the end of each game, win lose or draw!

HOWICK-PAKURANGA

The club champs have been completed for 1990 and the A grade was a virtual repeat of last year with Graham Walden sneaking past Paul Spiller with his last game win over David Nottley. Jim Porter took out the B grade.

A grade: G Walden 8.5; P Spiller 8; K Williams, D Nottley 5.5; A Booth, C Stott, J Bojtor 4.5; D Lark 4; C Strevens, S Price 3.5; H Webber 3.

B grade: J Porter 10.5; S Varga, M Kirkman 9.5; T Smith, P Slater 8.5; D Rawnsley 8; V Duzuov 7; D Beattie, S Staykov 6.5; J Finke 4.5; R Spiller, B Staples 4; D Rogers 3; M Pattinson 0.

By the way, Howick-Pakuranga is hosting the congress this year. Entry forms from Derrick Lark, 39 Minaret Drive, Bucklands Beach, Auckland.

This item is actually a letter but since it concerns a former news item and includes a diagram which helps break up the text and the copy is sitting in front of the typist, here goes.

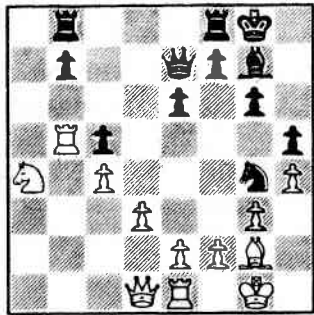

Dear Sir

In the October issue, page 108, you published the game Stuart-Smith with notes by R Smith. The double blunder at the end was inconsequential but a number of much more serious mistakes were ignored. One, in fact, was metamorphosed into a good move!

Let's have another look, starting after White's 26th move.

Black is losing at least one of his queenside pawns so seeks (and finds) strong counterplay on the other wing.

26...f5 27 e3 After 27 Nxc5? f4 28 Nxe6 Black wins by 28...fxg3 29 fxg3 Ne3. 27...f4 28 exf4 Bd4 29 Rxe6! Black's attack threatens to rapidly get out of hand after 29 fxg3 Ne3. 29...Bxf2+ 30 Kh1 Qxe6! Forced but adequate. Instead 30...Bxg3 loses to 31 Qxg4. 31 Bd5 Qxd5+ 32 cxd5 Rbe8 33 Rb1! Yes, this is a queen sac too, Robert. It also is forced as 33 Qb3 loses to 33...Re1+ 34 Kg2 Rg1+ 35 Kf3 Re8! 36 d6+ Kf8! White was now in severe time trouble which no doubt influenced Black in his decision to continue the attack now rather than head for the probably drawn ending by 33...Re1+. 33...Bxg3! 34 Qb3 Rxf4 35 Nxc5 Ne3? Correct was 35...Re2 36 d6+ Kh8 37 Ne4 with unclear play. The time scramble was now mutual. 36 Ne6? White could have gained the advantage by 36 Ne4 (or d6+ followed by 37 Ne4) which disrupts Black's attacking forces. 36...Rxf4+ 37 Kg1 Rh2 38 Rb2?? This was played simply to avoid the threatened perpetual check by Rg2-h2 etc. The aim was certainly achieved but not quite in the preferred manner. Instead 38 Qc3 or 38 Qxb7 leave Black with no option but to take the draw. 38...Rc8 39 Rb1 Rcc2 40 Nf4 The only way to avoid being mated. 40...Bxf4 41 d6+ Kh7?? It is interesting that the October issue gave Kg7 here. The lack of question marks suggests that was intended by the annotator yet the move played was certainly Kh7 as shown on the signed scoresheet (Black's copy). 42 Qxb7+?? As it turned out only the quality of the game suffered as White failed to comprehend the difference between the expected Kg7 and the actual Kh7. Obviously, 42 Qf7+ wins immediately. 42...Kh6 43 d7 Rhg2+ 44 Qxg2 Rxxg2+ 45 Kh1 Bc7 46 Rc1 Rh2+ 47 Kg1 Bb6? 48 Rb1? Rg2+ 49 Kh1 Rd2 50 Rxb6 Rxd3 51 Rb3 Rd1+ 52 Kh2 Ng4+ 0-1.

WELLINGTON

Harbour City won the Giltrap Cup (between Hutt Valley clubs) and Wellington beat Civic so they met in the inaugural Claptrap Cup which turned out to be an indecisive draw. (HC players first) Dive beat Sarfati, Noble beat Dunn, Marner beat Lezard, Van Der Hoorn lost to E

Frost, Collins lost to Rupasinghe, Turner lost to Powell, Monrad beat Grainger and Stracy lost to Tesn.

The Civic club champs are still in progress and it is not only the B grade that produces interesting games. Tony Jordan found Russell Dive in a waffling mood and silenced him with a few deft strokes. Jordan's maiden annotation!

Wellington Chess League intends entering the Bledisloe Cup (what format?). They also wish to look at grand prix type events, rapid chess and even talk of rating rapid events!

We wish these new organisers every success and hope they can achieve an increase in numbers of chessplayers. That is what we really need.

NORTH SHORE OPEN

The 17th North Shore Open on 8/9 September lacked sponsorship but nevertheless offered over $1600 in prizes. A slightly disappointing turn-out would have meant a sizeable financial loss were it not for a generous donation from club member Stephen Moore.

Three current national representatives in Russell Dive (the 1989 winner), Paul Garbett and Robert Smith looked likely to dominate the tournament with an in-form Roger Nokes keeping them honest. The score-table gives the bare round-by-round results which indeed show that the above-mentioned four players played the leading role. The table does not appear to be a good advertisement for the Swiss pairing system since none of the top four finishers met in individual games. This came about largely because of Michael Freeman's upset win over Garbett in the final round, that well-deserved victory coming after Freeman had started with three eminently forgettable draws on the Saturday. What did he do on Saturday night?

The top-board game in the last round saw Dive defeating Smith. At an earlier stage Smith looked to perhaps be getting on top with a clear spatial advantage. Dive, however, managed his clock better and soon Smith's position began to look over-extended; it gradually disintegrated as his time evaporated.

While it cannot be denied that Dive and Nokes deserved their joint victory, the next three rounds would certainly have proved interesting! In particular Garbett, who met the strongest possible field, could have looked forward to them with confidence.

NORTH SHORE CLUB CHAMPIONSHIPS

Roger Nokes came out of hibernation and played very determinedly indeed to score a fairly convincing victory in the 1990 North Shore Club Championship which ended in September. The decisive encounter occurred two months earlier in round 2 when Paul Garbett allowed Nokes a dangerous initiative which the latter converted to a winning position by the adjournment. Peter Stuart was an undefeated but distant third.

Scores: 1 R.I.Nokes 10½; 2 P.A.Garbett 9½; 3 P.W.Stuart 8; 4 G.J.Ion 7; 5 R.Hart 6; 6 D.J.Evans 5½; 7 P.B.Weir 5; 8-9 R.A.Feasey & G.L.Pitts 4; 10 D.J.Boyd 3½; 11-12 B.G.Emett & P.R.Snelson 1½.

The other grades featured much closer scoring with just 1½ points separating the top seven in the B-grade. Ross Brownlee won with 7/10 while Richard Steel and Winsome Stretch scored 6½. Bob Johnstone, Graham Mears and Pat Spencer-Smith were next on 6. The C-grade saw a four-way tie for first place with David Langley, Alexis Shead, Geoffrey Sullivan and Leon Talaic all scoring 7½/10.

The club Lightning Championship, held the following week, was won by Matthew Barlow with a near-perfect 10½/11. Ralph Hart looked likely to equal that score but suffered an upset loss at the hands of Philip Hair to finish on 9½. The other scores: 3 G.L.Pitts 9; 4-5 R.A.Feasey & G.J.Ion 5½; 6-7 D.J.Boyd & P.B.Weir 5; 8-9 P.I.Hair & W.Leonhardt 4½; 10-11 D.J.Evans & G.W.Mears 3; 12 B.Rubini 1.

UPPER HUTT LABOUR WEEKEND

By Chris Bell

On the 18th October a lovely understatement in the Evening Post quoted TD Chris Bell as saying that the A grade of the General Motors Labour Weekend event, with one entry, was looking marginal. Next day the organisers had just enough players to run both advertised grades.

Arguably the major event of Round one was the arrival of Anthony Ker and Alan Aldridge 59 minutes late! The former overcame this handicap by exploiting a book trap(?) in the Albin Countergambit essayed by Donal O'Boyle while the latter could not contain K O (Osruc) Mooi's lively Centre Counter game.

Ker repulsed Mooi's over-aggressive play in the second round while Jonathan Sarfati and Mark Noble drew a Sicilian in just 16 moves!

(With the road to first place clearly defined, Ker beat Sarfati in his usual Benko, Noble with a Caro-Kann and Philip Monrad with precision, ed).

Michael Schwass looked momentarily in difficulty against Ricardo Paino in the first round of the B grade but then mowed down his opponents with ease.

A grade: A Ker 5; M Noble 3.5; J Sarfati, D O'Boyle 3; M Post 2.5; P Monrad 2; K Mooi 1; Aldridge 0. B grade: M Schwass 5; W Ramsay 4; P Cunningham 3; R Paino, L Farrington, C Webber, J Frederikson 2.

BOOK REVIEWS

People interested in chess history are in for a double treat from McFarland publishers: a book on each of the two chess geni involved in the most bitter chess rivalry in history. The feud between between Capablanca and Alekhine lasted 15 years, from their marathon World Championship Match until Capa's death in 1942. The Karpov-Kasparov feud is a mere Sunday School squabble by comparison.

Capablanca: A Compendium of Games, Notes, Articles, Correspondence, Illustrations and Other Rare Archival Material on the Cuban Chess Genius Jose Raul Capablanca, 1888-1942

by Edward Winter,

349 + x pages. Hardback. McFarland.

This book is not supposed to be a biography. Rather, the author has compiled much biographical material which has not previously been published in the many books on Capablanca. Mr Winter is well known for his scholarly approach to chess matters. This book is an example - it avoids the problem, all too common in chess literature, of unsubstantiated stories, by providing exact references.

The main interest of the book is the quantity of Capa's own writings. The best are his own notes, which have not previously appeared in collections of his games, to a number of his famous games. These notes should benefit most players. Capa's annotating style may be inferred from his criticism of critics who "normally analyse a given number of moves, simply saying, 'if he plays this, the other player plays that' etc., with no conception of the plan, within which, it might be said, the moves are incidental." There are also some instructive lecture notes, tournament reports, and opinions worth noting on his contemporaries.

Readers may also be interested in the correspondence documenting Capa's quarrels with his predecessor as world champion, Emmanuel Lasker (and their mutual admiration), as well as Capa's fruitless attempts to arrange a return match with his successor, Alekhine. Certainly Alekhine was not willing to select his opponents because they were the best players available.

One chapter of the book is concerned with Capa's worry about the "draw death" of the present rules, and his suggestions to enlarge the board and add new pieces. There is the score of a game of "double chess" (192 squares) he won against Maróczy in 1929.

A brilliant game by the Cuban maestro, with his own notes:

J R Capablanca - A Ribera, Barcelona 1935, Caro-Kann:

1 e4 c6 2 Nc3 d5 3 Nf3 dxe4 (this move seems inferior to Nf6. The Caro-Kann Defense is based on bringing out the queen's bishop, and any maneuver which results in that piece not being brought out goes against the fundamental principles of the opening) 4 Nxe4 Nd7 (Now the queen's bishop could have been developed in the spirit of the defense, but this would result in its being exchanged for one of the knights, with a loss of time for Black. Nevertheless that procedure would have been preferable, since it would have developed Black's game. After the text move Black's QB remains trapped in for some time) 5 d4 6 Ngf6 e6 7 Bd3 Be7 8 O-O O-O (Although Black has a rather cramped position, it is difficult to see how White can take advantage of his strong, free position. Perhaps 9 Ne5 should be played now) 9 Qe2 c5 10 Rd1 Qc7 11 Bg5 b6 (an error which costs the game. Black should probably have played 11 ... h6 to dislodge the white bishop and free the knight on f6) 12 d5! Nxd5 (the only move to avoid the loss of at least a pawn) 13 Bxe7 Nxe7 14 Bxh7+ Kxh7 15 Ng5+ Kg8 16 Rxd7 Qxd7 (The alternative, Bxd7 would be no better. For example, 16 ... Bxd7 17 Qh5 Rfe8 18 Qxf7+ Kh8 19 Re1, and Black has no defense against White's many threats) 17 Qh5 Rd8 18 Qxf7+ Kh8 19 h4 Qe8 20 Nh5 Qf8 21 Nf6! Ng8 22 Qh5+ 1-0 (There is no defense against 23 Qg6).

A Alekhine: Agony of a Chess Genius

by Pablo Moran; edited and translated by Frank X. Mur

314 + xlv pages. Hardback. McFarland.

The word "Agony", explains the author, is of Greek etymology and means "struggle". The book is about Alekhine's struggle with loneliness, poverty, alcoholism, and the allegations of Nazi collaboration, in the last 2-3 years of his life, which were spent in Spain and Portugal.

The author has tried to publish every game Alekhine played during that period - there are nearly 150 in the book. A number of games are excellent, but others are feeble, suggesting that he would have lost his World Championship to Botvinnik, if he had not died first. There is also some of the anti-Semitic propaganda which appeared under his name during World War 2, and articles on whether he was responsible for it.

Alekhine - Pita et al., Petrov Def.: 1 e4 e5 2 Nf3 Nf6 3 d4 Nxe4 4 Bd3 d5 5 Nxe5 Qf6? 6 O-O Bd6 7 Nc3 Nxc3 8 bxc3 O-O 9 Qh5 g6 10 Qh6 Bxe5 11 Bg5!! Qg7 12 dxe5 Qxe5 13 Rfe1 Qxc3 14 Be7! (stronger than 14 Qxf8+ Kxf8, 15 Bh6+ Qg7! which is difficult to win) Re8 15 Bb4 Qc6 16 Bc3 f6 17 Bxf6 1-0.

OVERSEAS NEWS

By Peter Stuart NM

TILBURG

The 14th Interpolis tournament was in the by-now familiar eight-player double round-robin format. Although lacking the two World Championship contenders the field included five of the world's top ten. Among them was the young Gata Kamsky, ranked eighth on the latest rating list but yet without a title! He has had most of his success in open events so the dramatic extent of his rapid rise has gone largely unnoticed. If anyone had doubts about whether he would handle a super-GM round-robin as successfully they were soon to be dispelled.

Kamsky took sole possession of the lead in round four and enjoyed a full point lead over Ivanchuk at the half-way stage with a score of 5½/7. Only in the last round did Vassily Ivanchuk catch up by defeating Predrag Nikolic with the black pieces while Kamsky drew with his compatriot Yasser Seirawan, also with the black pieces.

Nigel Short could have made it a three-way tie had he won his final game against Jan Timman; he, however, also had the black pieces and fell victim to a smothered mate on move 29 allowing Boris Gelfand to sneak into a clear third placing. The tournament was category 16 with an average Elo of 2643.

PANNO v QUINTEROS

Miguel Quinteros has been absent from the international tournament scene for several years due to a playing ban imposed by FIDE following his repeated visits to South Africa. In the recent match against fellow Argentine GM Oscar Panno he took a two-point lead after four games in the best of ten clash but, after a draw in game 5, he lost the next four games to give Panno a 5½ - 3½ victory.

POLGAR MATCHES

At Corfu in September the three Polgar sisters played a Scheveningen system match against a Greek team of three. The sisters enjoyed a 30-point advantage in average rating but won the encounter surprisingly easily, 11½ - 6½. Judit scored 4½/6 while Zsuzsa and Zsafia scored 3½. On the Greek side GM Skembris scored 3½ while GM Kotronias and IM Grivas made 1½.

Subsequently, at Novi Sad, the Polgars gained a 10-8 victory over a Vojvodina team comprising GM Popovic (3/6), IM Rakic (3) and Drazic (2). The Polgar scores were: Judit & Zsafia 3½ and Zsuzsa 3.

FIDE NEWS

The 61st FIDE Congress will be held at Novi Sad in November-December. No longer do delegates vote merely for individual officers. Each of the three Presidential candidates this year is supported by nominations for Executive Deputy President, General Secretary and Treasurer. There will also, of course, be other elections for Continental Deputy Presidents, Executive Council members, Zonal Presidents, etc.

There are three candidates for President. Florencio Campomanes is standing for a third term and his ticket includes Alexander Matanovic (editor of Chess Informant) as Deputy President, Georgios Makropolis (Greece) as General Secretary and Willy Iclicki (Belgium) as Treasurer. The Puerto Rican nominee Narciso Rabell Mendez is supported by GM Lothar Schmid (Germany), GM Yuri Averbakh (USSR) and M. Zein El Sadat (Egypt) while the third ticket comprises Roman Toran (Spain) for President, Rafael Tudela (Venezuela), Andrzej Filipowicz (Poland) and Walter Baumgartner (Switzerland).

The three Baltic republics Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania have all applied for re-entry to FIDE mainly on the basis that they never left except by the illegal occupation of their countries following the infamous Molotov-Ribbentrop agreement in 1939. The Soviet Chess Federation points out that a country can only have one federation affiliated to FIDE and it is that federation.

Also on the agenda is a proposal to restructure the two Asian zones citing the huge area and population of the present zones, the number of new countries which have joined FIDE in recent years, and the significant increase in playing strength. Five new zones are suggested including a South West Pacific Zone comprising Australia, Fiji, New Zealand and Papua-New Guinea.
